

Prophetic Ronda's Great Grace

Ronda Word

Holy Spirit Sang Through Me

I love my children, I love my babies, I love my babies. My babies are my church of now. My babies will speak prophetically and see visions and teach. It's all ready in them. These gifts are untampered by the world. They have been taught and they should be allowed to teach. They are the now generation. They are the now church.

I am the head of my church but each and every one of you makes up My body. I have selected everyone of you individually for the best body part you would fullfill. An arm would not make a leg. An ear would not make a toe. I have made you all so different for this very reason but for this very reason I need everyone of you to make my body complete. My body isn't complete with one leg and it's hard for me to navigate. My body isn't complete without my hands, it's hard for me to touch others. Do you see why it is so important that I have all My body together? As time progresses you see even more importance in this. Family relationship and completeness is very important to Me. You need to learn to trust Me more and more. Some of you still feel doubt. There will be no room. Trust Me and your family in Me. Trust is not in the world but in Me. You are in the world but not of the world. Set yourself apart. Rest in My pure Love. Share My pure LOVE with all you come in contact with. Press in. Press in. Press in.

One of My greatest desires is for you someday to know the depth of My Love. Continue to dive deeper and deeper. As the depths of My Love is revealed to you, you will realize a greater ability to love others. The nurturing heart comes from Me directly and comes by revelation of My Love.

My Grace abounds. You only need the hunger in your heart and I will take care of the rest. Turn to Me and open your heart to Me. Accept Me as your Lord and Savior and you become the Clay on the potter's wheel. I am the Potter. Open your heart and open your ears and I will create of you the desires of My heart. I will create the new you. I will send you forth with My Spirit within you into the world and share Me.
